EVIL OF BETTING ON HORSE RACES ONCE MORE CLEARLY DEMONSTRATED

to the extent of $40.

The tip having come from "Fussy," who knows all about race horses, there was little hesitancy in securing the support, morally and financially, of such eminent judges of horseflesh as "The Manager," "The Warsaw Boy," "The Sooperintendent," "The Printer," "Windy" and thorse did finish.

"Eighth," laconically remarked the operator.

"I told youse," was the consolation offered by "Gloomy Gus."

Immediately after the race a rule was adopted by the company that in the future all strong tips should be sidestepped.

The evil influences of betting on horse races are again shown by the disaster which overtook a group of gentlemen who had a tip and consequently a dead super large or down. It was a dead, immortal einch that Mitre could beat that bunch of elev-which overtook a group of gentlemen who had a tip, and consequently a dead sure cluch, in the first race at Oakland Saturday.

Mitre was quoted on the local board at 40 to 1. There was a field of eleven and Mitre led by a length into the stretch. After that a search warrant was issued for the belated horse, which came in eighth.

It wasn't the fault of the hunch or the tip hat Mitre didn't win; it was just Mitre's fault alone. At any rate, there is $40 gone of as good money as ever saw Salt Lake.

When the tip came from the track that it was Mitre to the wire, "Fussy" rounded up his friends. Being a newspaper man, he isnew where to find them. A pot was collected and Mitre was backed to the extent of $40.

The excitement among the conspirators that Mitre could beat that bunch of elevent does.

The excitement among the conspirators are left practically as during the last session, excepting that Smoot has been given the chairmanship of patents, which is a committee slightly more important than that of standards, weights and measures, of which he was chairman at the last session, excepting that Smoot has been given the chairmanship of patents, which is a committee slightly more important than that of standards, weights and measures, of which he was alread by a length when the stretch was reached.

As a rule it doesn't take race horses very long to come down the stretch and show under the wire, but in the case of the last session, excepting that Smoot has been given the chairmanship of patents, which is a committee slightly more important than that of standards, weights and measures, of which he was chairman at the last session, excepting the last session, excepting that Smoot has been given the chairmanship of patents, which is a committee slightly more important than that of standards, weights and measures, of which he was chairman at the last session, excepting the last session of committees of the same Washington, Dec. 17.-In realignment
